GS-299-01 099705	ST: Intro Geological Mappin 0755259 Laura Reynolds Pre-requisites: GS 140 or permission of instructor; GS 165 recommended. In this class, we will learn the basics of geological mapping -- identifying and mapping the distribution of rocks in the field. In the two short field labs prior to the weekend trip, we will review field techniques such as field sketches, observations, reading topographic maps, and using a Brunton compass at field sites in Worcester. On the weekend field trip, we will map a small area in detail, determining the extent of different rock formations and the geological structures it contains. Students will create a digital version of their completed maps and write a summary of the geological history of the region as their final project for the course. Field Lab (rain or shine): Friday, March 31st 2:30-5pm ST 402b. Field Lab (rain or shine): Friday, April 14th 2:30-5pm ST 402B.
